FROM THE PRESIDENTS DESK

Our sport's future depends heavily on the outcomes of current issues, each of which potentially can have a most significant impact the operation of our clubs or participation of our members.

I will start with some of the less pleasing outcomes so far. Firstly if you haven't read in the newspapers the Police have embarked on a major revamp for processing firearms licensing. There are some positives outcomes such as being able to submit at a Post Office most of the paperwork for applications for new and addition/modifications to firearm licensing. Unfortunately the positives don't balance out with issues of concern such as the increase in application costs for a modification from $24 to $66 and obligations on shooting organisations to perform a range of roles as part of this new process structure.

The restructure of TRA has become pigeon-holed by a Management Committee that seems paranoid about having all Councillors shrouded in secrecy about changes. There seems to be some fear amongst the TRA Management Committee that its Councillors can't make rational decision that are best for TRA. They may become overtly influenced by the Members, State Association Committee's, that annually nominate them as TRA Councillors.

To more positive things now!

Our Treasurer, Kevin Brice has spent a lot of effort to move all WASRA accounts into a MYOB system under the tuition of a consultant provided as part of DSR and WASF program. I think Kevin's positive attitude and willingness to learn will have significant benefits for WASRA in the future management of our financial affairs. Look forward to a fresh new looking set of accounts being presented to the AGM.

There is now a cautious optimism of a WASRA range being built on Whiteman Park. This replaces the disappointing news in the last news letter. The change stems from preliminary discussions with DSR's, Bruce Campbell following a letter to DSR seeking clarification. A significant level of funding to build our own National Championship level facility has been tentatively earmarked by DSR. For those interested members watch out for a day to visit the proposed site in the next few months.

EDITORIAL

Well I managed to survive another Northern District Championships without putting on too much weight.

Geraldton's 40th Anniversary Celebrations over the June long-weekend Northern District Championships was enjoyed by all. Attendance was up as was the quality of those fabulous BBQ nights. Everyone in Geraldton Club deserves a pat on the back for a job really well done. My daughter has already performed the "last rights" for the magnificent looking cyclamen I received. But its death (dormant?) had nothing to do with the TLC treatment I gave it.

It is re affiliation time again so this may be your last Newsletter until you renew your WASRA Membership. It was really good to see that again last year our membership numbers grew slightly. After so many years where the numbers of members got smaller I think it is a good sign.

Please also be aware that the dates for the State Prone Championships had to be changed to avoid a conflict with the AISL Australia Cup Final in which some of our top shooters may be competing. See the new details in the Calendar inside the front cover.

The WASRA Annual General Meeting is also going to happening early again. It is on the Saturday before the Doubleview Champagne Shoot. By then I hope we know some more about our future shooting at Harrison Range or Whiteman Park.

Also for anyone thinking of going to next year's National Championships. It has finally been announced that it is going to be held on Sydney International Shooting Complex again. I would hope that we will know some more after the TRA AGM over the last weekend in August. Then we can start making bookings and getting ourselves organised. Doing things in Sydney is certainly a lot easier than trying to get everyone out to West Wyalong.

Simon Shaw is also updating the WASRA web site at www.wasra.asn.au whenever he gets details. New State Captain, Bob Sjepcevich will help by posting Winchester and Lawler Team scores each month.

The TRA web site has a new electronic National Magazine that can also be printed off—worth a look.

WA FIREARMS LICENSES

Details of Proposed Changes

Your local Post Office, shooting club and computer will become important for licensing of firearms soon.

You will no longer need to attend your local Police Station to obtain or make changes to your firearms license. Proposed changes to the current Firearms Regulations were outlined in recent presentations by the Police Licensing Branch to firearms dealers and Officials of State shooting associations.

The current process, we were informed, places a demand on local Police resources that's inefficient, especially in country areas. So it's being replaced by one that uses a local Post Office to collect, with payment, all your Application paperwork with a now familiar 100 point identity check. Everything is then sent to our Police central licensing unit and held for the mandatory cooling off period. Then normal checks are done before a new or updated license is issued.

First, to start your collection of paperwork, you will complete an on-line Firearms License Application form found on a Police website. If you don't have access to the web then you will need to wait for printed copies to be posted to you from the licensing unit.

After printing the completed forms you will need to take it to get your dealer or nominated member of your shooting club to examine the firearm and certify that it is in sound working condition. Again we were told the Police are now not competent to examine and be sure any firearm is in sound working order.

This also means there will be no need to take a sickie off work to shuffle back and forth between the seller and the police station to finalise a sale. Also gone are temporary firearms permits to legally collect and carry the firearm between the seller and local Police Station for inspection.

There was also general agreement that Members of shooting clubs and firearms dealers are more familiar with the sound operation of our firearms. So gone is the need to drop firearms on their butt from a height of 1 metre to prove they are in sound working order. This was never popular amongst most serious firearm owners and especially us smallbore rifle owners.

A multi-choice questionnaire must be successfully completed in front of a nominated club member or firearms dealer to ensure the applicant understands and is competent when handling and using firearms.

Photos as you install your gun safe will need to taken and printed. Or get the installer to certify on the form that the safe is of a standard and has been installed as specified in the Regulations. Again this will avoid the current Police inspection regime of all gun safes.

The Application Form may have other obligations that apply and will need to be completed. You may have a criminal record, or a history of mental illness, or physical impairments that might have an influence on the Licensing Unit issuing you with a new or updated firearms license.

For new Firearms License Applications the normal fee will now incorporate a refundable and a non-refundable component. So if your application for a new firearms license is refused for any reason you can collect from the Post Office a refund of about 60% of the Application Fee.

However the cost for an addition to an existing license will be totally non-refundable and more than double today's rate. But it can be for more than one firearm. We were told a full evaluation, as used for new License Applications, will also be done for all the applications for additions. And this new fee reflects what it costs the Licensing Unit to perform these checks.

There is no changes to the current need to carry both a paid imprinted Firearms License with a list of licensed firearms and an extract of license with photo ID. For some of us the multiple pages of Firearm License will still bulk up our wallets.

All these proposed changes will place an added burden on every one of our affiliated clubs. There is going to be a need for someone in every club to be able to certify a firearm is operating safe and sound. Also clubs will need to hold stocks of the various versions of the License questionnaires & correct answers in a secure location.

Once the full details are available WASRA will need to do a full review of current policies to be sure every club can competently fulfill all these new obligations.

What can your club do to be sure it is ready to help Members?

HARRISON RANGE

Latest Developments—What do you need or want?

WASRA has not heard from the Defence Department with any further updates on when our use of Harrison Range may end. So it is business as usual for the rest of this year and hopefully a good bit of next year as well.

Fallen through are original plans announced late last year for a new shared rifle and pistol facility to be built at Whiteman Park. In January DSR Consultants, Woodhead, provided detailed development plans for this range and the shooting complex. The proposed final layout would have provided for all current needs of WASRA.

The main reason for cancellation of this joint rifle and pistol range facility was insufficient DSR funds available this year to upgrade WPIPC, Whiteman Park International Pistol Club, ranges. These upgrades were urgently needed to handle the increase in membership that resulted from its merger with Perth Pistol Club. Available funding from DSR was only enough, if members of the club provided the building management, to make extensions to the main clubroom, build a new 100m centrefire range, indoor air range and to provide some additional 25m bays.

The consultant's proposed joint use 50m range is impractical after these changes. Its location has been used for other pistol range extensions so it would need to at least be relocated.

There is still a lot of encouraging signs that a specific smallbore range can be built as part of the Whiteman Park Shooting Complex. It is just going to take longer to plan and build. So with DSR's generous offer to WASRA of funding support over the next couple of years the outcome will really just depend on WASRA and WASA to agree on what we can build.

So what type of facilities does smallbore rifle in WA need to build to ensure our Members are provided with an affordable range that can be used for competitions, training and practice in all our events? Exactly when that question needs to be answered will be determined by a fresh start to negotiations between WASRA and the custodian of the complex, WA Shooting Association.

The most likely outcome is that a smallbore range will still be built close to, but slightly east of the existing pistol ranges on Whiteman Park. Not too far from the original proposal displayed on the notice board on Harrison Range.

WASRA will need to go through a process similar to how the new Harrison Range was built just 20 years ago. It needs to find a layout that will be suitable to hold our annual State Championships and club competitions with National Championships every 6 or so years. It also needs to be used by clubs on week nights and able to be used for less formal scout and cadet use.

With the pending changes to the State Firearm Regulations should we consider providing an ability to service new needs. What might they be? How often will they be needed? Are these viable options?

What target system should be installed? We are all happy to put up each 5 bull paper target by walking out across our lawn that is kept under control for us by Graham. What if lawn is not permitted? Should we consider using Target Changing machines (TCM) or even go straight to the electronic target systems like those being used now by big-bore. Can we afford either of them? What are the ongoing/recurring costs to use them? Do Members want to use them?

Is having a 20m indoor range still important? It has a secondary purpose for competitors to leave their rifle cases during competitions. Is there a better way for rifle cases to be accessed during competitions?

These are just some of the challenges to be faced by the WASRA Committee. I am sure if you want to share your views they will be given due consideration at an appropriate time.

COACHING

Learning To Shoot - Part 1

WASRA SCATT DAY

A Scatt training day was held on Harrison on Sunday, June 21, 2009. The session ran from 10.00 in the morning until mid afternoon

Three scatt machines were set up and several shooters participated in a very instructive session of electronic practice. All who took part brought along their own rifles and equipment so that the exercise duplicated a normal competitive shoot. This applied to both prone and benchrest shooters.

The whole day was managed by the TRA Coaching Council Convenor, Tricia Van Nus. We also had Level Two NCAS Coaches Sue McKenna and Owen Oliver on hand to help analyse shooter's techniques and results.

Shooters had the opportunity to fire electronic shots and then receive from the coaches advice on specific area that they could try improve their results.

The whole day was very enjoyable and another scatt training day is planned in the near future. Look out in WASRA News for a date.

Thanks to Tricia, Owen and Sue for your efforts and also Andrew Sevelji for bringing along your machine.

KALAMUNDA NOTES

With our first prize meeting behind us, we were very pleased with the turn up. All competitors enjoyed a very good shoot, both ISSF and telescopes.

The club is still enjoying very good attendance on Sunday mornings, but there is still room for you.

Range clean up is occupying a bit of time and we still think it is the best country range around.

We have 5 tables available for benchrest type persons every Sunday morning. Our annual subscription notices went out recently and are good value for what you get. No increases for 4 years I think.

Yes we are open every Sunday morning 9.00am.

Visitors most welcome and you get free coffee and tea as well.

NORTHERN DISTRICT CHAMPIONSHIPS

40TH ANNIVERSARY RESULTS

The 40th Anniversary of Geraldton Smallbore Rifle Club's formation was celebrated in style across this year's June long weekend with magnificent weather, two nights of sumptuous food and some very close shooting in both prone grades and benchrest divisions.

Peter Hug and his small team of club members should be congratulated on another well run event. Photos of some very much younger looking Members were on display and others clearly showed a progression of extensions to Geraldton's Range over many of those 40 years.

None of the travellers from Perth could have gone home unhappy.
